

Kevin Wing Bio

Kevin Wing Media Communications

Kevin Wing is a two-time Emmy Award-winning television journalist in the San Francisco Bay Area. He has worked as a news reporter, producer, special projects producer, writer, field producer, assignment editor and news anchor. In June 2016, he celebrated 30 years in the San Francisco Bay Area television news industry.

Since 2006, Kevin has worked as a Bay Area-based ABC News producer for "Good Morning America", "World News Tonight", "20/20" and "Nightline". He is also principal of a film and video production company, Kevin Wing Media Communications, specializing in corporate and public sector video production, public relations and broadcast media consultation. The city of Fremont, the Fremont Symphony Orchestra, the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) and The History Channel are several of his many clients.

In late 2013, Kevin received a distinguished honor when the San Francisco/Northern California Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences inducted him into the Silver Circle for career achievements spanning 25 years or more. In the 68-year history of Bay Area television dating back to 1948, Kevin is among more than 240 fellow Silver Circle inductees and is currently one of its youngest inductees.

A Fremont native and a seventh-generation Californian (his family arrived in the Golden State in 1854), Kevin's family moved to Fremont in 1963, settling first in the Irvington District for several years before calling the Mission San Jose District home for four decades. Kevin graduated from Mission San Jose High School, Ohlone College and San Jose State University.

Very involved in civic and community events in the Bay Area and, in particular, in his hometown, Kevin is the longtime emcee of Fremont's annual July 4th Parade. With the upcoming 2016 parade, Kevin will mark his 19th year of emceeing Fremont parades. He emceed the Mission San Jose Bicentennial Parade in 1997. Since the Fourth of July Parade's inception in 1999, Kevin has emceed every single parade to date. He is already slated to emcee the city's July 4th Parade through 2017, when he celebrates 20 years of parade emceeing in Fremont.

Kevin began his television career in 1986 while still in college, starting as a news writer at KICU-TV Channel 36 in San Jose. The following year, he joined KTVU Channel 2 in Oakland as a weekend assignment editor. In 1988, he began his first full-time TV job in San Diego as an assignment editor at KFMB-TV Channel 8. The following year, he relocated to Eureka, where he was hired as a news anchor and reporter, becoming the North Coast's highest-rated anchor after only two months on the air. In 1990, Kevin returned to the Bay Area when he rejoined KTVU as an assignment editor and reporter for "Mornings on 2" and "The 10 o'clock News." During his 11 years there, Kevin received numerous honors for his work, including two Emmy awards for best breaking news coverage and best daytime newscast. Kevin also spent four years as a reporter at KNTV in San Jose before it became an NBC station. Kevin was South Bay Bureau assignment manager at KGO-TV ABC 7 in San Francisco for several years. He has also worked at KRON-TV, also in San Francisco. Additionally, Kevin spent three years as a news writer and producer at KNTV NBC Bay Area in San Jose.

His career accolades also include honors from the Associated Press Television Radio Association, the Radio Television News Directors Association, the San Francisco Peninsula Press Club, the Joey Awards, the Telly Awards and the Communicator Awards. In 2013, Kevin received the 2013 Governors Service Medallion from the San Francisco/Northern California Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences for his many contributions to the Chapter and to the Bay Area television news industry.

For the last four years, Kevin has represented the San Francisco-Oakland-San Jose television market, the sixth-largest in the country, as regional vice president, San Francisco, on the Board of Governors of the San Francisco/Northern California Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. Kevin is also editor of "Off Camera", the Chapter's monthly publication, which is distributed to Chapter members in California, Nevada and Hawaii. He has served as editor since 2013.
